Mrs. Catt said in her address, women were getting tired of waiting and believed themselves able now to take hold of some one thing and do it right. Ingulies she had made during her European tour regarding what women would like to take in hand had brought forth considerable sentiment in favor of having the women of the world get behind the coal question and carry on such coal for everybody.

Democracy and the emancipation of women Mrs. Catt cited as the greatest things that had come out of the war. She urged the German women to keep up their faith and act unitedly for their country.

Frau Adele Schreiber-Kreiger in her address of welcome declared the German women had found that now they had acquired political power they were helpless to relieve post-war distress among children, the aged and the intellectuals.
